Br. Forbes Winslow of London Talks About Lunatics and Their Treatment in the Past and at Present-Less Lunary in the United States than in Other Countries.

THE FEDERAL BUILDING.

The Medico-Legal Congress opened yesterday in the Federal building under the management of the Medico-Legal Society of this city. Its international character was shown by the pres-ence of such distinguished foreigners as Dr. Forbes Winslow, Dr. Norman Kerr, and Have-lock Ellis of London. Among the Americans present were Dr. Paul Gibier. Recorder Goff, Dr. W. J. O'Sullivan, Montz Ellinger, Senator Guy, Postmaster Dayton, Dr. Chaffee of Brooklyn, Dr. Rosse of Washington, Prof. Sudduth of Chicago, ex-Judge Noah Davis, and Dr. Doremus. A number of women were also present, among them Mrs. Jennie Stuart Wilcox, Miss Sophia McClellan, Mrs. Eliza Aschard Connor. and Mrs. Louise Thomas, the Vice-President of the New York Medico-Legal Society.

paper on insanity. He said in part: I trust the society will pardon me on this occasion, my first visit to the United States, for alliding to the memory of my revered father, as no account of the history or insanity, in my opinion, would be complete without doing so.

"Following in the steps of Pinel, the Jukes of York, and the late Dr. Connolly, who was one of the first to systematize a gentle, persuasive, and lowing treatment of the insane, who had hitherto been regarded in the light of wild beasts to be curbed and restrained by bolts, bare, and keepers whips rather than as human beings, fallen, indeed, from their high estate, but amenable to tenderness and judicial kindness, he it was who created the science of psychology and gave it a local habitation and a name, at least so far as Great Britain is concerned. He was the first physician who urged the pien of insanity in criminal cases, a bies which has outlived the assaults of popular clamor and ignorance and is occasion, my first visit to the United States, for

"He largely contributed to the literature of the country by his 'Opus Magnum,' while 'The Obscure Diseases of the Mind 'is one of the scientific classics of the English language.

"These achievements, combined with his successful ministry to the mind diseased and his unvarying kindness, generosity, and deep religious feeling, have earned for him a worldwide reputation.

"He was born in London in 1810, and was the ninth son of Capt. Thomas Winslow of her Majesty's Forty-seventh Regiment of Foot, said of Mrs. Mary Winslow, whose memoirs under the title of 'Life of Jesus' have obtained for her considerable celebrity in the religious world, not only of my country, but more especially of fours.

"At the commencement of his career, owing to the straitened family circumstances, my father was met by obstacles on all sides. He arrived in London with half a dollar in his pocket and commenced the struggle. He got an immediate appointment in the Times office, and his duty was to report the Parliamentary speeches, which appeared in extenso the following morning, after which he would go to the dissecting room, and, with the aid of a candle, work into the early hours. With this and the proceeds he obtained for some books bearing on medicine before he was qualified he paid all his own fees due for his curriculum without any assistance. He qualified in 1835, and when be died in 1874 he was the acknowledged head of the branch of the profession he had made his own.

"I propose very briefly to trace the condition of linary in various parts of the universe. The recognition of insanity by the ancients is clearly established. Our classical writers, who lived many years before Christ, frequently alluded to it. The Hible contains repeated references to persons mentally afflicted.

"The madness of Saul may be mentioned as one of the first instances we possess, which David was supposed to have subdued by music during his attacks of maniacal fury. David, who reigned from 1015 to 1055 B.C., frigned madness.

"The oldest hospital for the insane in Europe is Bethlehem Hospital. Henry VIII., in 1547, seized upon the institution, which up to that time had been used for a monastery, and presented it, with all its revenues, to the city of London as a residence for lunatics. This was absolutely the first establishment for the insane founded in England. In 1660, when experiments for the transfusion of blood were being made in Paris before the Academy of Sciences on a youth and a lamb, so much satisfaction was expressed at the result that the Royal Society of London became anxious to perform the same in England, but were at a loss for a subject. Sir fictorice Ent suggested that it would be advisable to perform this operation on an inmate of Bethlehem.

tieerge Ent suggested that it would be advisable to perform this operation on an inmate of Bethlehem.

"This proposal having met with the approval of the Royal Society, Dr. Allen, the medical superintendent of Hethlehem Hospital, was called upon to produce a lunatic for the experiment. He, however, positively refused to grant their request. After this in Paris, the experiment was again attempted upon a lunatic, who died in the arms of M. Jenis, who was the operator. I allude to the incident to show with what feelings persons of unsound mind were regarded at the epoch of which I speak. Many lunatics were burned for witchcraft; others were confined in dens fit only for wild beasts. The first Lunacy bill introduced into the English House of Parlisment was in 1846 by Lord Ashley, who subsequently became Lord Shaftesbury.

"The whole history of the world until the era of the Reformation does not afford an instance of a single receptacle assigned to the protection and care of these unhappy sufferers, whose malady was looked upon as hardly within the reach and hope of medical sid. RAILROAD COMMISSIONER RICK-ARD ON THE SEA BEACH SMASH.

Superintendent Larke Has a New Explanation of the Binnater-Five Employees of the Railway Held Without Ball-Damage Suits Preparing in Newark, Twenty of the persons hurt in the wreck on the Sea Beach Railroad on Monday afternoon are still at the Norwegian Hospital, and the superintendent of that institution said last night that they all were doing well and possibly would recover in a fairly satisfactory manner. It is not regarded as likely that there will be any more deaths directly due to the accident,

The five employees of the Sea Beach Railroad who were arrested on Monday evening, charged with criminal negligence, and were arrested again on Tuesday night, charged with homicide. were arraigned yesterday before Justice Cowen hoven at Fort Hamilton. They pleaded not guilty, and were held without bail pending the action of the Coroner's jury. The prisoners were Frank Jenson, the engineer of the runaway enrine; Arthur Ross, the fireman; Joseph Hedges, the conductor of the make-up train; Daniel Hunner, engineer of the locomotive attached to the make-up train, and James O'Brien, the switchman in the yard at Bay Ridge.

Railroad Commissioner Rickard, with his secretary, Charles De Freest, visited the office of the Sea Reach Railroad at Hay Ridge vesterday and began informally the investigation. Nothing will be done by the Commission as a body until after the Coroner's inquest on next Tuesday, Mr. Rickard, who is a practical engineer of thirty-five years' experience, proposes o attend the inquest. From remarks which he made yesterday during his call upon the ever since that time one wing of the Pennsylvania Hospital has been devoted to the care of the insanc.

"On May 23, 1755, patients were received in the new building. The first State institution for lunatics was opened in 1773 at Williamshurgh, Va., also one in New York in July, 1797. This was the germ of what Is now known as the Bloomingdale Asylum. The Marriand Hospital in Haltimore made provision for lunatics the same year, and this accommodation was increased in 1807. From that date up to the present there has been a steadily increasing interest taken in the management and welfare of the insane in the United States, and I am looking forward with much pleasure to visiting these institutions and adding my poor testimony to what I have already heard of the general excellency of your system.

"There are about 90,679 persons of unsound mind in France out of a population of 37,988,905, and the average admission per year is rather over 10,000, these are distributed as follows: 35,872 in asylums, 54,707 are taken care of at their own homes, there being one insane person in every 747 of the population. The chief causes for lunacy in France are epilepsy, convulsions, intemperance, destitution, and misery, disappointed hopes, and hereditary predictions. to attend the inquest. From remarks which he made yesterday during his call upon the railroad authorities, it was evident that he did not think the accident at Woodlawn could have been avoided. The trouble originated in the first collision in the yard at Bay Ridge.

"The engineer did not stop sharp enough," said Commissioner Rickard. "I am told that he had been working the brake all the way back, but that it failed just before the crash came. Now, would it not have been a proper thing for him to have come to a dead stop before approaching that train? The whole amount of it is, that he miscalculated the speed at which he was travelling. He was going faster than twenty-five miles an hour."

Superintendent Larke of the railroad company contended at first that the cause of the accident was the breaking of a spring, which made it impossible for Engineer Jenson to close the throttle valve. He has changed his mind about that, and yesterday told Commissioner Rickard that the engine was so bedly damaged after the first collision that the engineer could not have stuck to his post. Instead of a spring being broken, Mr. Larke said yesterday, he had found that the quadrant of the reversing lever was twisted and that the throttle valve was so ben't that it could not be moved.

Mr. Rickard gave it as his opinion that the engineer should have stuck to his post, and said twould have been possible to flood the cylinders to prevent further accident.

Suits for heavy damages are to be brought by persons living in and near Newark for injuries received in the wreck. Among those bringing suits will be Mrs. Michael Ward of I Clover street, Miss Margaret Waish of 171 Eighth avenue, who was with John Hoerle of 452 Mulberry street, and Edward H. Freeland of 50 Liberty street, who was in the thirteenth car with his wife and three sons. Freeland's feet were hurt badly, the small bones and ankle of his right foot being broken. Patrick Matthews of 113 Adams street, also will seek damages. The claims will be from $5,000 to $10,000 each. person in every 7.47 of the population. The chief causes for lunacy in France are epilepsy, convulsions, intemperance, destitution, and misery, disappointed hopes, and hereditary predisposition. All Departments in France must contain public institutions for the reception of functios who are under the direct inspection of the Prefect of the Department and other officials. In addition to this there are several good private asylums in the vicinity of Paris, and also in other parts of France.

"According to figures which I have collected I have discovered that there is less lunacy in America than in some other countries. In Great Britain the proportion of lunatics is I in every 400 of the population, in Scotland I in 430, in Ireland I in every 303, in France I in every 747, and in America I in every 623; one of the smallest ratios being 1.60 in every 1,000 of the population."

Albert Bach of this city ready a paper on the "Necessity of Amendment of the Laws of New York Relative to Commitment of the insane."

PRISON COMMISSION DEADLOCKED. Three Ballots Taken for a Secretary Which Resulted in a Tie. ALBANY, Sept. 4.-The Republican Prison Commission, which was created to act as a general Board of Supervision and Inspection over all State prisons, met here to-day and fell out over the election of a Secretary. The office pays $3,000 a year. The Prison Commission is very respectable Board of seven gentlemen and one lady, to wit: Lispenard Stewart of New York, Charles J. Boyd of Middletown, Nelson Davenport of Troy, William R. Remington of Canton, John G. Dorrance of Camden, William J. Montanye of Cortland, George B. Hayes of Buffalo, and Mrs. John Davenport of Bath, Stenben county. They draw no salaries.

The Commissioners had three candidates for Secretary before them and examined into their respective political pulls. The three were Augustus De Peyster of Bath, a protégé of the Davenport family: Augustus Sherman of New Baitimore, whom State Committeeman Gen, W. S.
C. Wiley of Catskill was backing, and David Healey of Brookiyn, a former labor agitator.
The informal ballot gave De Peyster 4 votes, Sherman 3, and Healey 1. The second and third resuited in a deadlock, which caused Gen Wiley to say harsh things about the Commission. His man Sherman had the votes at the first meeting of the Commission, but in the interim Lispenard Stewart was prevailed upon to support De Peyster as a tribute to the four hundred, and he left the Shermanites, and his vote led to the deadlock. The Commission finding both sides firm postponed further balloting till the 16th.
In the mean time they will visit all the prisons, tus De Peyster of Bath, a protégé of the Davenpoliceman pushed his prisoner out into the middle of the street, knocking his hat from his head.

The policeman here requested that the examination be postponed, as he wanted to produce several witnesses. Magistrate Cornell set the hearing down for the afternoon.

Mr. Garfield again came to court. The policeman brought Proprietor Hangs of the Sturtevant House; C. G. Stevens of Pontlac, Mich., a guest at the hetel, and f. Johnson, a guest of the Coleman House, as his witnesses. They all swore that they did not see the policeman use any unnecessary force. Policeman Woodridge of the Jefferson Market squad, who was present when the arrest was made, also testified for the officer.

"It very often happens," said Magistrate Cornell, addressing Mr. Garfield, "that the most intelligent and public-spirited citizens occasionally misjudge the acts of a policeman. The trouble is that they are not always in a position to know the amount of force it is sometimes necessary to employ. I am obliged to you, sir, for your disinterested and public-spirited action in coming here in relation to this matter, and I appreciate the motives that actuated you in doing so."

Magistrate Cornell told Beischoff that he was satisfied that he had acted in a disorderly way. irm postponed further balloting till the 16th, In the mean time they will visit all the prison, beginning with Sing Sing to-morrow. Their special object will be to report to the Legislature what they think will be the best way to carry out the constitutional prohibition of convict la-bor in competition with free labor and yet keep the convicts employed.

BARTHOLDI HOTEL'S AFFAIRS. The Sale of the Hotel Furniture Put Of for the Present at Least.

The sale of the furniture, fixtures, crockery, and wines at the Hotel Bartholdi, to satisfy the executions obtained against the hotel company. was advertised for to-day, but an arrangement has been effected and the sale will probably not be held. Yesterday dispossess proceedings came up in the Sixth District Court against the company, but these were discontinued. Park J. White, the manager of the hotel, declined yesterday to tell the nature of the agreement that had been reached. Helen M. Pike, the owner of the property, is out of town.

Since July 30 the hotel has been in charge of Deputy Sheriff Dunphy. On that day executions amounting to $17,100 were obtained tions amounting to $17,100 were obtained against the company. The present proprietors nave conducted the hotel since April, 1880. The company is made up, it is said, of George W. White & Son, and has a capital stock of $50,000. On lan, i, 1895, the assets were $95,000 and liabilities $50,000. The annual rental is $60,000, and the house has less than 100 rooms, it has enjoyed a good patronage, but the torn-up-condition of Broadway in front of the hotel entrance, where the Lexington avenue and Broadway cable lines are to connect, has caused many of the old patrons to forsake it.

J. H. MACVICAR WAS DROWNED Son of a Clergyman and Head Teacher in the Monteinir Military Academy.

MONTCLAIR, Sept. 4. - Word was received here to-day that there was no longer any doubt as to the drowning of J. H. MacVicar in the lake on last Friday. He had taken a rowboat to row across an inlet of the lake, and a sudden squall across an inlet of the lake, and a sudden squall came up and overturned it. Women heard his ories for aid, but were unable to help him. The boat in which MacVicar went out was recovered with an oarlock broken.

The foregoing statement was sent here by J. G. MacVicar, who went to the lake to ascertain the facts. The drowned man was the cleast son of the Rev. Malcom MacVicar, a retired elergyman who lives on the mountain. He was about 40 years old, and unmarried. He was head teacher in the Montelair Military Academy.

Crops Damaged by a Big Storm. Sr. Louis, Sept. 4. Reports received this morning from central Illinois and eastern Missouri say that last night's rain storm did a great deal of damage. In some places the wind almost a hurricane, and the telegraph and telephone wires were blown down. At Macomb trees and fences were blown down, corn badly damaged, and three horses were killed by lightning. At Arcola, ill., the wind blew down roofs and signs and overturned outbuildings. At Danville, Ill., many chimneys and trees were blown down. The storm is reported to have done great damage in the country a few miles north of Danville.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4. - A terrific downpou of rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning, struck this city shortly after midnight, and struck this city shortly after indusingly, and continued until 7 A. M. The rainfall surpassed anything known here in years. The south side is practically cut off, the South Illinois street tunnel and all of the streets ever which the electric lines pass being flooded and impassable.
